Dianna Williams joins RIW in the Litigation Group

By RIW on July 30, 2018

RIW is pleased to announce that Dianna Williams has joined the firm in the Litigation group. She will also work in the firm's Commercial Real Estate group. She will concentrate her practice on complex business and commercial litigation.

Dianna has a strong foundational knowledge of a range of topics, including contract law, commercial litigation, construction disputes, employment law, secured transactions, mortgage foreclosures, loan workouts, business formation, bankruptcy, zoning law, probate, and commercial real estate.

Dianna has appeared before local boards and courts in towns, counties and jurisdictions throughout Massachusetts, including the District Court, Housing Court, Boston Municipal Court, Land Court, Superior Court, Probate and Family Court, Bankruptcy Court and United States District Court for the District of Massachusetts. She also has experience with alternate dispute resolution, including settlement negotiations, mediation and conciliation. While in law school, Dianna worked as an Investigator at the Massachusetts Commission Against Discrimination.
