

Adam Gutbezahl and Sarah Melia Present National Business Institute Program on ChatGPT & Generative AI in Estate Planning

By RIW on December 21, 2023

RIW attorneys Adam Gutbezahl and Sarah Melia recently co-presented a program on “ChatGPT & Generative AI in Estate Planning” for the National Business Institute. The program discussed how generative AI applies to estate planning, from AI assisted drafting and application to client communications. Sarah discussed how reliable (or unreliable) generative AI platforms like ChatGPT can be in estate planning. Adam, who has regularly spoke on and written about the legal pros and cons of generative AI, addressed the potential traps in using these platforms for estate planning purposes.

Learn more about the program.

Adam represents individuals and businesses in a wide variety of matters, including complex commercial, employment, land use and real estate disputes. Learn more about his practice.

Sarah’s practice focuses on all aspects of wealth transfer planning and minimizing estate and gift taxes. Learn more about her practice.

Check out Adam’s article on ChatGPT in the Workplace: Employers Beware.

POSTED IN: EMPLOYMENT LAW, EVENTS, TRUSTS & ESTATES

PROFESSIONALS

Adam G. Gutbezahl

PRACTICES

Employment Law

Trusts & Estates