Cannabis

APPROACH

The Ruberto, Israel & Weiner Cannabis Practice Group is an interdisciplinary team of attorneys with broad experience in a number of areas relevant to the industry. We can assist with dispensary as well as cultivation projects. RIW helps our clients effectively tackle their most complex legal problems, representing individuals and businesses. RIW combines the skills, experience, and resources often found in larger firms, with the accessibility and efficiency of a smaller, more flexible firm.

We understand the unique business challenges and legal concerns of this industry and the need for proactive planning and decisive action.

TEAM

RIW is recognized by clients and peers for our straightforward and practical approach to completing transactions that are in our clients' best interests. The goal of our Cannabis Practice Group is to develop comprehensive solutions in a timely manner that will satisfy our clients' business objectives and financial expectations.
